After some suffering through some offensive struggles early Saturday at the Lynx Softball Classic, Abraham Lincoln closed the tournament with a bang.

The Lynx dropped a 4-2 decision to Underwood before rebounding in dominant fashion with a 12-0 win over St. Albert.

Underwood's Abbey McDonald limited A.L. to just four hits while striking out five in her complete game-effort.

Chelsie Hardesty led the Eagles' offense with two hits.

The Lynx bounced back later in the day, using 14 hits to take down St. Albert 12-0 in four innings.

A.L.'s Chelsea Acosta hit home runs in her first three at bats and totaled six RBIs in the game. Lauren Rommel also homered and Kristin Burhenne, Taylor Anderson and Taylor Powers each had two hits.

That was plenty of offense for Michaela Kennedy, who earned the win in the circle.

"They were feeling it, and once one person gets hot, the rest follow," A.L. coach Pat Kroll said. "Chelsea was just on fire. It was an amazing effort at the plate.

"It was nice to finish strong in the last game of the tourney. It was a great offensive performance."
